

Downtown Bainbridge Island Businesses Host Virtual Art Walk – April 3, 2020

Jeffrey Moose Gallery (jeffreymoosegallery.com) is proud to announce the formation of a Virtual First Friday for this coming Friday, April 3rd, at 6:00 PM. Three galleries are participating in addition to a live musical act. Joining Jeffrey Moose Gallery are Island Gallery (theislandgallery.net) and Bergh Images (berghimages.com) followed by violinist Ranger Sciacca (rangerswings.com).

March exhibits will continue through April, giving all a chance to dive deeper into the work which has been on display.

Since artists and guests cannot physically join together on Winslow Way on a beautiful spring evening, Jeffrey Moose and other galleries decided a work-around was going online using relatively simple tools: a cell phone and laptop. Through Facebook, they will, one at a time, stream live video from their galleries, followed by a dessert of solo Violin from Island treasure Ranger Sciacca. You must be on Facebook to view these events.

In-between each ten minute stream will be a five-ten minute break, time to fill a wine glass and redirect your browser to the next gallery's Facebook page. Use a digital time device to accurately follow the schedule:

- 6:00-6:10 PM: Jeffrey Moose Gallery, 181 Winslow Way East, Suite F, Bainbridge Island, WA. Evy Olsen Halvorsen - New Paintings. Oil on canvas and encaustic works by a well-established Kitsap talent. Strong Abstract Expressionist compositions with occasional figurative elements speak to themes including Nordic Heritage, childhood memories and climate change. Though the doors are closed, we are still designing and building picture frames for any artwork.
- 6:20-6:30 PM: Island Gallery, 400 Winslow Way East, # 120, Bainbridge Island, WA. Abstract Landscapes: Corinne Carbone's abstract paintings reveal two conversations, one with a physical landscape dominated by bold shapes and strong colors, the other the inner dialogue of the artist, a mental landscape expressed in layers and textures and a neutral color palette. As an encore, we are introducing enticing spring ensembles from fiber artists Maggy Pavlou, Amy Nguyen, Linda St. Angelo and Diane Prekup.
- 6:40-6:50 PM: Bergh Images, 400 Winslow Way East, # 115, Bainbridge Island, WA. Fine art photographer Andrew Bergh exhibits his evocative images in eclectic genres, including landscape/nature, urban, and travel, and in different mediums, including metal, acrylic, canvas, and custom-framed B&W prints. Recent images from Spain are currently being highlighted.
- 7:00 PM - Solo violin concert by Ranger Sciacca. Live from Ranger's bedroom, Bainbridge Island. Jazz violin virtuoso Ranger Sciacca, leader of Ranger and the Re-Arrangers, will perform for 15-20 minutes, playing waltzes and other favorites from his repertoire.
